

Dear Dr Chen,

I have not seen you for a while now due to difficulty travelling from Canberra to Sydney. My husband has been unable to drive me and I use all of my energy doing the trip alone (it takes me 2 days to recover from the trip).

I have more pain in Right arm since I have not been able to see you and I think about you all the time.

I am always thinking that one day I hope to be able to see you again for regular treatment.

I am so grateful to you that you do what you do.

You make such a very big difference to people's lives.

You have given me a huge appreciation for Chinese medicine. I find it amazing that Chinese medicine is derived from ancient times because it seems to be more advanced than modern medicine (that sounds crazy, I know). I wonder if it is because Chinese<sup>x</sup> medicine relies on people (how they feel and what works) as opposed to what information is written in a book (Medical Journal).

...especially for you!

One day modern medicine might validate (& practise) what Chinese medicine already knew thousands of years ago. Until then, I am happy we have you. THANK YOU so very much Nicole Haridemos.
