Dear Practitioner,

As you may be aware from recent media articles, some IVF clinics in Sydney have decided to provide their own services in the area of complementary healthcare (acupuncture, naturopathy, nutrition and massage).

At IVFAustralia, we take a slightly different view. At IVFAustralia, we value the knowledge and expertise of the existing local practitioners in complementary medicine. In particular, our experience is that patients really appreciate the care that they receive from you and a collaborative approach to their fertility treatment.

At IVFAustralia, we would therefore like to support our local practitioners. Specifically, we would like to strengthen our relationship with you to continue a partnership to provide the very best multi-disciplinary care for all of our patients.

I attach a list of all of our clinics and specialists for your information. If you are interested in being on our list of supported health practitioners that we provide to our patients, we would be delighted to include you. If you wish to be involved, just forward your details to localpractitioners@ivf.com.au confirming your practice address, contact details and the list of practitioners within your practice.

We hope that by raising awareness of the relationship between you and our clinics, patients will gain further confidence in our collaborative approach to their fertility care.

Kind regards,

Associate Professor Peter Illingworth
Medical Director
