Hi Doctor Chen and Happy Chinese New Year!!

Hard to believe that we are this far into 2014 already. Time flies.

I hope you and your family are well. We are all doing well. The boys are gearing up for another school year and Pauline and I have been back at work for a few weeks now.

I am happy to report that I am feeling strong and healthy. I started a new job late last year and have been busy. I am also doing some major landscaping work at home for the first time in years.

Pauline's skin looks really healthy. I am pleased that the herbs have been effective in dealing with her eczema.

It's a big year for Michael. He is in Year 11 and can get his driving learners permit. Hard to believe we have come this far. He was 6 months old when I was diagnosed with cancer.

Anyway, I must go. I am due to see you at the end of February. Enjoy the Chinese New Year and I will see you soon. Regards to all your family.

Kindest Regards

Tony
